COVID19 v Information rights

Regulation in the time of COVID19

Data protection and coronavirus

Why does it need to change?

Priorities

Priorities during COVID-19 and beyond – 2020-21

The ICO has reshaped its priorities for the coming months. We have considered the current landscape and looked ahead to assess where and how we should narrow our focus on the areas we can have the greatest impact to protect the public interest and support economic growth and innovation.

Three impacts identified

Protecting the public interest

We are focused on the information rights issues that are likely to cause the most harm or distress to citizens and businesses.

Enabling responsible data sharing

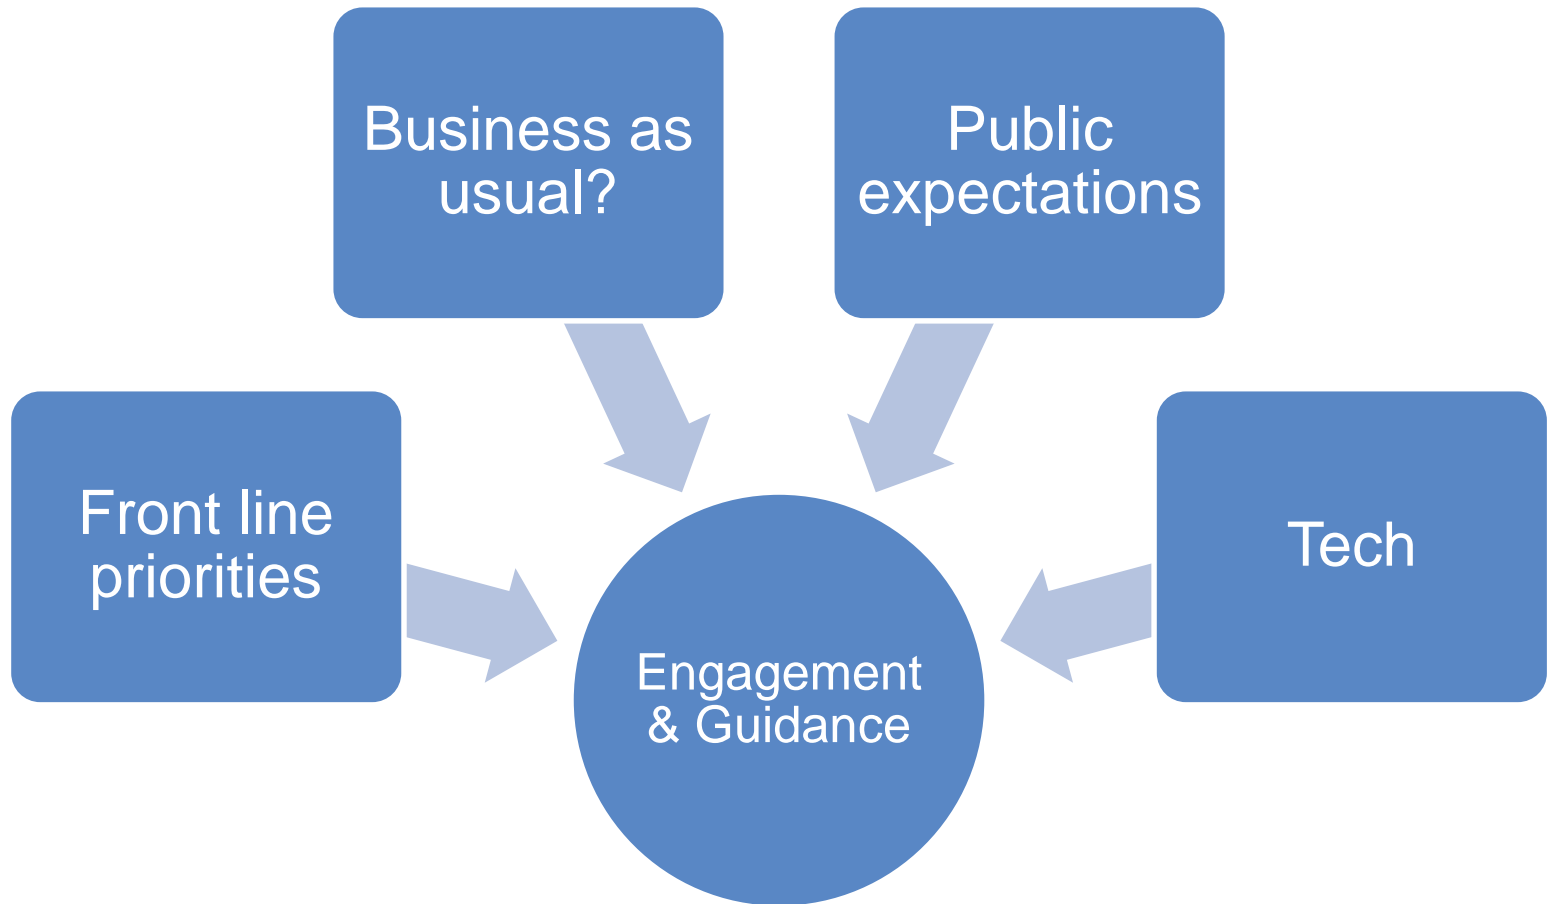

Ensuring that data can be shared responsibly and with confidence for the public good, including responding to the risk arising from a failure to share.

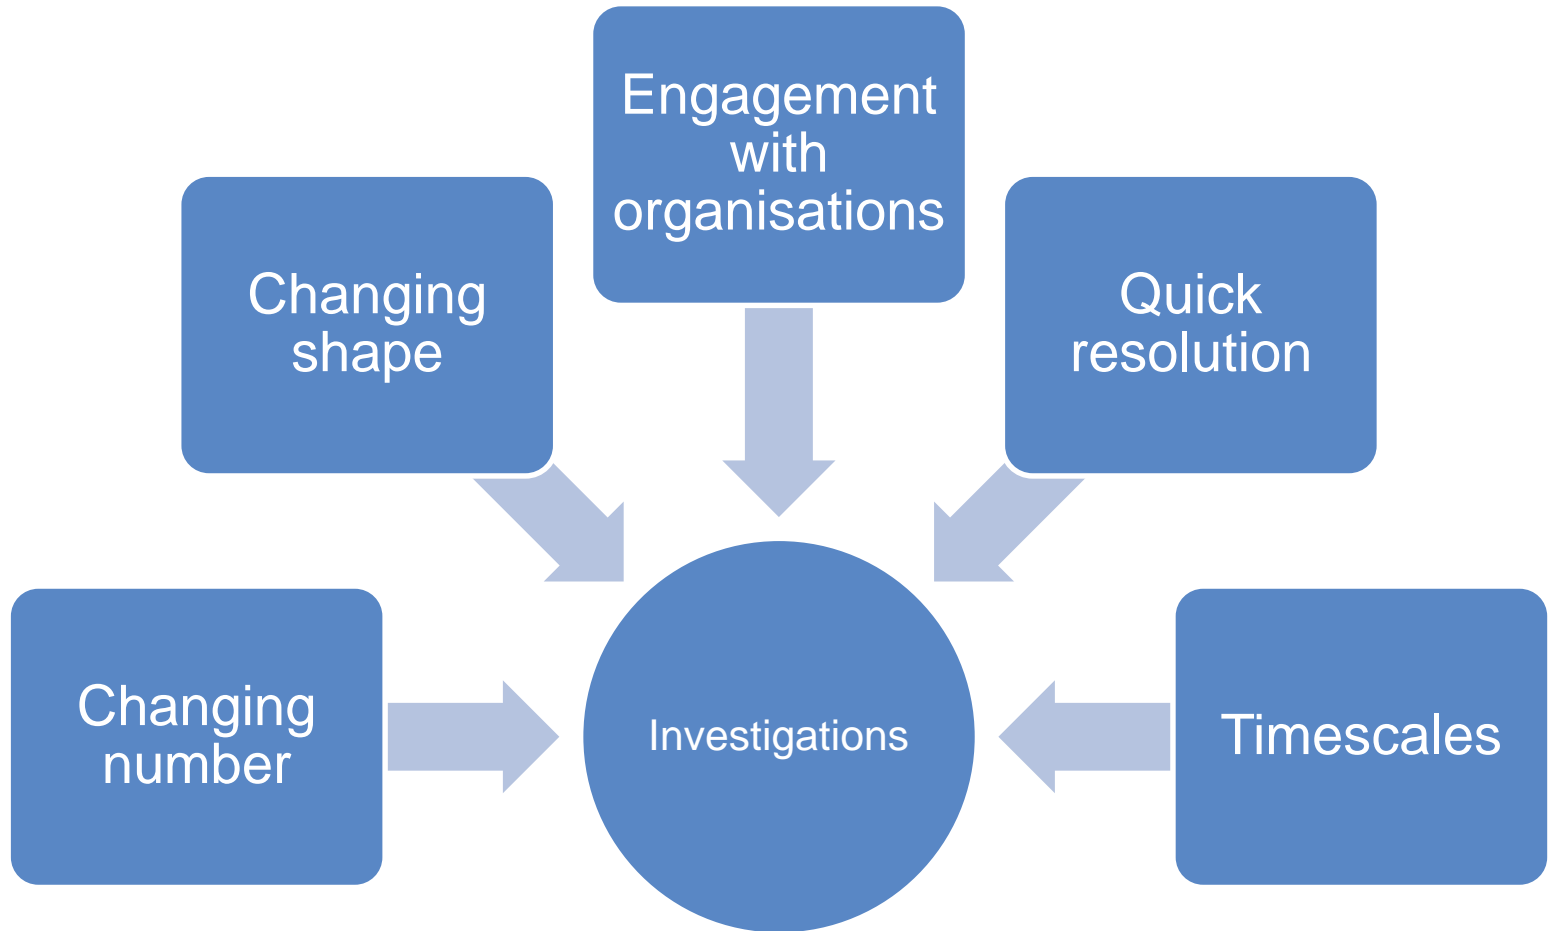

Monitoring intrusive and disruptive technology

We are ensuring we protect privacy, while enabling innovation and supporting the economy.
